Western Michigan Professional Earns Registered Roof Consultant (RRC®) Certification

BEACHWOOD, Ohio (July 20, 2010) – David Hand, Senior Sales Representative for Tremco Roofing and Building Maintenance, recently earned the title of Registered Roof Consultant (RRC) from RCI Incorporated. Hand was registered as an RRC after successfully completing a rigorous, two-part program consisting of an application process and a day-long examination. The application process qualifies the individual's field experience and industry education, while the exam tests both knowledge and problem-solving skills. He joins an elite group of Registered Roof Consultants in the U.S. and Canada who incorporate the industry's highest standards in the specification, design and construction of roofing systems.

A nine year employee of Tremco, Hand supports all of southwestern Michigan, including metro Battle Creek/Kalamazoo. Actively involved in the roofing industry, he has supported the American Institute of Architects (AIA) Southwest Michigan and the Building Owners and Managers Association (BOMA); is an active member of the Construction Specifiers Institute (CSI) and is an accredited Certified Document Technologist (CDT).

The RRC program is administered by RCI from its international headquarters in Raleigh, NC. The program's goals of promoting the highest standards of building performance through industry expertise, ethical conduct and continuing education for its registrants is rapidly gaining recognition throughout North America.
