THOUSANDS of School Districts TENS OF THOUSANDS of School Buildings BILLIONS OF SQUARE FEET of School Roofing

Dependable Data.

If you're challenged to manage diverse, aging or complex roofing systems across your school district and face a backlog of deferred maintenance, a customized roof management program from Tremco Roofing and Building Maintenance can help you do more with less. Our proven program puts you in control of your roofing inventory by providing a clear roadmap for prioritized roof maintenance, repair, restoration, and replacement.

Tremco Roofing and Building Maintenance has been in the business of helping school districts effectively manage their roofing inventories for decades. Since our founding in 1928, we've worked with schools across North America to solve their most difficult roofing problems with customized roof management programs that cover even the most aged, diverse and complex roofing systems.

Because we understand from experience that managing schools is uniquely challenging – with safety, health, and comfort as critical as fiscal responsibility – programs by Tremco Roofing are developed with all your facility needs in mind, including short-term and long-term objectives for the life of your buildings.

No matter how large or small your roofing inventory, every school district can benefit from a proactive and comprehensive program that puts you in control of your roofing assets.

You'll get the facts & figures. We'll show you what to do with them.

Information may be power, but when it comes to extending performance life and protecting your valuable roofing assets, information alone is not enough. What's also needed is the ability to turn information into a real-world action plan aligned with your operational and financial goals so you're in control of one of your most critical building assets. Which is why we've taken everything we know about roofing systems, installation, repair, maintenance, restoration, and replacement and turned it into the industry's most comprehensive and reliable roof management program.

FOUR PILLARS

TREMCO ROOF MANAGEMENT PROGRAMS

Roofs may be out of sight, but from the moment a roof is installed it should not be out of mind. If you neglect even the highest quality roofs for too long, the consequences are inevitable – premature failures that result in operational disruptions and unplanned expenses. Serious safety, health and comfort issues may also result. So, what to do?

Reduce Risk

A hand points to a central blue hexagon labeled 'RISK MANAGEMENT'. Surrounding it are six other hexagons containing the words: 'Accept', 'Strategy', 'Transfer', 'Control', 'Action plan', and 'Reduce'.

We understand the role of risk management in organizational decision-making. Our processes reflect our ability to help you identify, assess and prioritize your roofing inventory so you can minimize risk and make informed decisions about the resources required to meet your risk management objectives.

1

Eliminate Disruptions

A teacher stands at the front of a classroom, smiling and interacting with students. A chalkboard with writing is visible in the background.

When roofs leak or otherwise fail prematurely, the consequences often go well beyond repair and construction costs. Consequential damages – both interior structural damage and classroom disruptions – can escalate quickly. Our programs are developed to ensure your most vulnerable interiors are kept dry to eliminate costly disruptions.

2

Improve Safety, Health And Comfort

As the first line of defense against weather and other contaminants, your roofs and building envelopes not only keep your buildings dry, but also sustain desired temperature and humidity, and protect students and faculty from potentially hazardous pollutants. Which is why our plans can include building envelope solutions to ensure your roofs and building envelopes work in concert to keep your buildings dry.

3

Maximize Return On Investment

Hands are shown using a calculator on a desk with various financial documents, charts, and a laptop.

Obviously every dollar counts, especially when budget constraints and deferred maintenance projects continue to escalate simultaneously. In accordance with your short-term and long-term building objectives, we'll show you how to avoid the high cost of premature roof failures and emergency repairs so your money goes farther and you can deploy your resources to other facility needs.

4

Consider a Roof Management Program customized by Tremco Roofing.

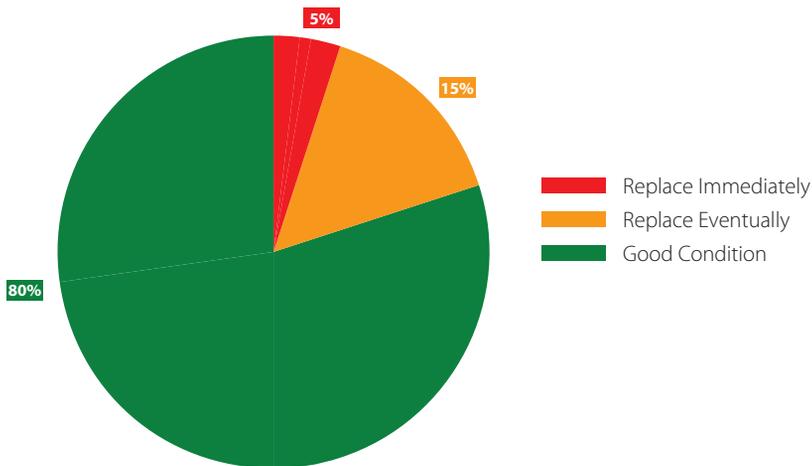

Tremco Roofing Management: The Methodology that Works.

PHASE 1 The facts. Know what you have.

The age, structural components and condition of each roofing system within your inventory are professionally evaluated to determine their current and projected performance life. No matter how complex or aged your roofs, or how many types of roofing systems across your district, we have the organizational resources and technical know-how to build detailed profiles, recommendations and budgets for each roof.

And with OLI® (Tremco Roofing's on-line information management system), accurate and real-time information is at your fingertips 24/7. You can even download your data directly into your own facility management system.

PHASE 2 The plan. Match priorities to budgets.

With detailed roof-by-roof data on hand, we'll rank the condition of every roof system in your inventory so you can see which roofs are in good shape, which need some level of care, and which are at the greatest risk for failure. Then we'll work with you to define a schedule of housekeeping, maintenance, repair, restoration, or replacement to maximize the performance of all your roofs. And we'll do it all within your budget so it's a real-world plan you can take to the bank.

Phase 3 Execution. Work the plan.

Simply put, we put into action the recommendations you decide to implement. Following an agenda of priorities, we can assume responsibility for housekeeping, maintenance, repair, and leak response services for the duration of your roof management program. And roof restoration and replacement projects are also projected so they can be reflected in your budget plan and construction project schedule.
